

Feature

Double R Productions
President Rosemary Reed
highlighted in Feature

"If it's a strong film market like Atlanta, Chicago, or even Nashville, they usually have an 'A team' — meaning you can get experienced crew, but you might still want to fly in your keys."

- PRODUCER MARK KALBFELD

Photo provided by Blue Shamrock
Communications

Producer Rosemary Reed explains next scene to Houston CBP officer.

Another full-service connection for crew personnel is Maslow Media Group (MMG), a small, woman-owned corporation based in Washington, D.C. since 1989. MMG provides crew and staffing-related services nationwide and covers the entire spectrum of multimedia, audiovisual, and television production services around the country. Producer Rosemary Reed contracted MMG to provide script-to-screen production on a series of welcoming videos for the William P. Hobby Airport in Houston, Texas—the nation's first "model" port of entry. "We filmed at locations within Houston's George Bush International Airport, Dulles International Airport, and at the CBP studios in Washington D.C." said Reed, noting that MMG offered everything up to—and including—Spanish, French, German and English narration.